KEY RISKS

What are the key risks associated with this product?

|-------------------------------|--|
| Market risk            | The purchase of equities represents a risk since the prices of stocks fluctuate in response to various factors. Such movements in the prices of the stocks underlying the investment portfolio will cause the fund's NAV, and consequently the prices of units, to fall as well as rise.   |
| Specific security risk | Prices of a particular security may fluctuate in response to the circumstances affecting individual companies as well as general market or economic conditions. As such, adverse price movements of a particular security invested by the fund may adversely affect the fund's NAV and unit price.                                     |
| Liquidity risk         | Liquidity risk is defined as the risk of the fund manager having to liquidate the fund's holdings of illiquid securities at a discount to market value (for listed securities) and at a discount to fair value (for unlisted securities) to meet the redemption requirements. This may adversely impact the fund's NAV and unit price. |
| Currency risk          | If the fund invests in foreign currency or assets denominated in foreign currency, the fund may be exposed to currency fluctuation risks. Fluctuations in foreign exchange rates will affect the value of the fund's foreign investments upon conversion to local currency and subsequently impact the value of your investments.      |
| Country risk           | Overseas investments of the fund may be affected by changes in the political and economic conditions of the country in which the investments are made. Such political and economic factors may influence the growth and development of business enterprises and impact the financial markets.  |

You are advised to read the fund's prospectus and understand the risks involved and, if necessary, consult your professional adviser(s) before investing.
